

Report on attending a course ' 52nd Graz course on Rhinosurgery (including dissection), July 13th -16th, 2016 at Graz, Austria.

16th August, 2016- India

I am Dr. Narendrakumar Veerasigamani from India. I would like to thank ' European Rhinologic Society' for providing me the fellowship to attend my dream workshop- 'Graz course on Rhinosurgery'. Still I am searching a better word than 'THANKS' for congratulating ERS team. Its only because of them, I met great stalwarts of ENT which gave me enthusiasm and courage towards my Rhinology work. I would like to share some of my experiences in the meeting.

First day started with the basic details about how FESS was originated, imaging, endoscopy, and anatomic details step by step approach to each sinuses. Then cadaver dissection and demonstration by Prof. H. Stammberger thrilled me. With that help I done cadaver dissection with very fresh cadaver, guided by all great faculties of the meeting. Next day talk about frontal, sphenoid sinuses, CSF Rhinorrhea, FESS complications and its management removed my fear towards advanced FESS. Last day treat was watching cadaver dissection on pituitary surgery by Dr. TOMAZIC. It made me cloud nine.

A mediocre teacher 'Tells', A good teacher 'Explains', A superior teacher 'Demonstrates', But a great teacher 'INSPIRES'. Prof. H. Stammberger and Prof. Reda Kamal inspired me a lot.

Being a junior surgeon, it was a great feel and honor to be in Graz, where FESS originated. Many basic and advanced techniques are taught in an easy way and enlighten my knowledge in FESS; this privilege is only because of your offer. Sure in near future I will contribute more to the ERS and growth of the firm. Eager to join ERS meetings in near future.

Best regards,

DR. NARENDRAKUMAR VEERASIGAMANI; MS, DLO.
